CALL FOR PAPERS

PST'2005, the Third Annual Conference on Privacy, Security and Trust, is aimed at scientists, educators, business people, technologists, futurists, and others who have a vision and an understanding of the big challenges (and accompanying advances) that should shape the research agenda in privacy, security and trust. The conference features research paper presentations, invited keynote speakers, panel discussions, workshops, tutorials and social events.

Submissions of papers are encouraged in areas as diverse as, but not limited to:

- Privacy Preserving/Enhancing Technologies
- Critical Infrastructure Protection
- Identity and Trust management
- Network and Wireless Security
- Intrusion Detection Systems and Technologies
- Security, eSecurity, Secure Software Development and Architecture
- Representations and formalizations of Trust in electronic and physical social systems
- PST challenges in eHealth, eLearning, eGovernment and eCommerce
- Trust technologies, technologies for building trust
- Observations of PST in practice, society, policy and legislation
- Digital Rights Management
- Human Computer Interaction and PST
- Implications of, and technologies for, Lawful Surveillance
- Information filtering, recommendation, reputation and delivery technologies, handling spam
- Anonymity
- Biometrics, National ID cards, identity theft
- RFID and associated technologies

High-quality papers in all PST related areas which, at the time of submission, are not under review for or have not already been published or accepted for publication elsewhere are solicited. Papers exploring new directions or areas will receive a careful and supportive review. All submitted papers will be reviewed on the basis of technical quality, relevance, significance, and clarity. All accepted papers will be published in conference proceedings. The best paper awards will be conferred on the authors of the best papers at the conference.

Submissions are encouraged as long papers as 12 pages and should be in the IEEE format, with the first page bearing authors' affiliations, names and contact details. Details are available at <http://www.ieee.org/organizations/pubs/transactions/stylesheets.htm>.
